授業の目標 Course Objectives
The Hult Prize is an international student competition presented by former US President Clinton each year. In this competition, teams of several students compete to develop an entrepreneurial idea to solve a social problem, such as those related to the SDGs. The winning team will attend the global competition in September of the following year and receive $10,000 as start-up funds. In this seminar, students will learn practical approaches to becoming "change leaders," particularly among the leaders Nitobe College fosters, through the challenge of the Hult Prize (entry to the Hult Prize, project planning and presentation by teams, and participation in various events). They will also deepen their understanding of the SDGs, social business, and entrepreneurship and learn how to formulate project concepts that will impact society.
