

科目名 Course Title	Nitobe College Honors Program: Graduate Curriculum
講義題目 Subtitle	Nitobe College Special Seminar: Career Development Seminar for Graduate Students
責任教員 Instructor	LA FAY Michelle Kay (Faculty of Humanities and Human Sciences)
	XIAO Lan (Institute for the Advancement of Higher Education)
	KAWATANI Yuima (Institute for the Advancement of Higher Education)
	TANI Hirofumi (Faculty of Engineering)
	WHITFIELD Dale Lee (Institute for the Advancement of Higher Education)
担当教員 Other Instructors
科目種別 Course Type	Nitobe College Special Classes
開講年度 Year	2026	期間 Semester	1st
授業形態 Type of Class	Seminar	単位数 Number of Credits	1
補足事項 Other Information	-
キーワード Key Words
Career planning, Self-awareness, Active learning, PDCA
授業の目標 Course Objectives
This course is composed of a continuous seminar style, including a training camp. It aims to develop each student's ability to build their future career plan through self-insight and dialogue with Nitobe College Fellows and classmates based on an active learning style in an unfamiliar environment.
到達目標 Course Goals
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• To acquire the ability to build up the Nitobe student's future career plan by recognizing the current situation of the society and labor market and finding the student's potential.</li> <li>• To consider the procedure for realizing your future career plan. Work on this plan continuously based on the advice of the instructors and the Fellows.</li> <li>• To acquire the clue to address the student's future plan through dialogue with instructors, fellows, and classmates in the Nitobe Community.</li> <li>• To learn the basic ideas and skills to be a leader in the community or a team through continuous work on the future career plan.</li> </ul>
授業計画 Course Schedule
The schedule for AY2026 is as follows.
May 16, 2026 (Saturday); session 1-3 July 4-5, 2026 (Weekend), Training camp; session 4-8
Below are the details of each session for AY2025. Details for AY2026 will be announced separately.
(1) 10:30-12:00 Orientation, ice-break, knowing each other (Pre-assignment) (2) 13:00-14:30 Understanding what a career model is (Lecture from the fellows) (3) 14:45-16:15 About the near future professional world (Group work) 16:15-16:45 Homework and information
Training camp at Hokkaido Youth Center for experience and activity-Napal Fukagawa in Fukagawa city
1st day
(4) 13:30-15:00 Employment situation in society (Lecture)
(5) 15:15-16:45 Nitobe College and my career (Panel discussion)
(6) 19:00-20:30 Narrative of the fellows (Lecture from the fellows)
2nd day
(7) 9:00-10:30 Self-evaluation for competencies (Group work)
(8) 10:45-12:15 Review of the previous day's activities and future activities (Lecture and group work)

準備学習(予習・復習)等の内容と分量 Homework*成績評価の基準と方法 Grading System

Achievement of goals will be evaluated as pass/fail through participation and contribution to the class and reports.

テキスト・教科書 Textbooks

To be advised when needed.

講義指定図書 Reading List

To be advised when needed.

参照ホームページ Websites

<https://nitobe-college.academic.hokudai.ac.jp/ug-curriculum/u-classes#tsc:1-2>
<https://nitobe-college.academic.hokudai.ac.jp/about-nitobe-college/fellow-mentor>

備考 Additional Information

*The application period for this course is scheduled from April 20 (Mon) to May 8 (Fri).

*This course is offered by Nitobe College Honors Program: Undergraduate Curriculum. Graduate students who wish to take this course should ask the instructor responsible (Prof. Tani, tani@eng.hokudai.ac.jp).

*A credit for this course can be included in the required credits for completing the Honors Program: Graduate Curriculum. However, students who have previously taken this course as undergraduates cannot allocate it toward the completion requirements of the Honors Program: Graduate Curriculum.